Hansford Art House Exhibit Two July 11 - July 12, 2008

Charleston WV July 11, 2008- Artist Dane Klingaman is pleased to present Exhibit Two, an art exhibit taking place in the artists' own live/work space on Hansford Street in Charleston's furniture district. Following up on the success of his inaugural exhibit Beating Art in February, several of the same artists are exhibiting such as Jamie Ferguson, Aowenking, Dane Klingaman, Preston, Keith Allen, Chris Fore and Jamie Miller. New exhibiting artists include Andrea Anderson, Maggie Starcher, Amanda Miller, Vasilias Scouras, Josh Saul, Mike Andrick, Tyrone Scott, Chris Worth, OhNo and Alexa Peck.

Much of the house, owned by Professor of Art at the University of Charleston, P. Joseph Mullins, transforms into an alternative art gallery, with an emphasis on progressive art installation. Art in the exhibit includes works on paper, painting, printmaking and small-scale sculpture at the academic and street level. All artists in the exhibit reside in the Charleston area.

"It is extremely gratifying for me to share the artmaking and exhibiting process with other artists from a hands-on perspective. It's nice to have an alternative space designed to exhibit works that communicate concepts and issues from an emerging artist's perspective," comments Dane Klingaman.

Immediately following the reception on Friday evening, local hip-hop artists' Meowl and B. Rude will stage a performance at the residence. The duo are gaining notoriety among the regional music scene as progressive and lyrically-skilled MCs.

Immediately following the reception on Saturday evening, alternative-folk band theButtonflies will be performing at the residence. The band has recently relocated to the Charleston area and are taking the local music scene by storm with consistent energetic performances at the Empty Glass.
